Toronto Couple's 8 Children Killed As Fire Guts Home

TORONTO (CP) — An early-morning fire swept through a row of two-story frame houses in Toronto's west end today and took the lives of eight children, the entire family of Mr. and Mrs. Roy French.

Mr. French, 34, was forced back by flames and smoke as he tried to rescue the children from their second-story bedrooms. He had been sleeping on the ground floor.

Mrs. Effie French, 32, was at work at Toronto's central post office when the fire broke out around 1 a.m.

Fire Chief Francis Coakwell said the blaze started in the kitchen-dining room area of the French home and spread to two dwellings, belonging to Elmer J. Hachey were gutted. The other received minor damage.

The children were identified by police as Anne, 17, Albert, 15, Eileen, 14, Allison, 13, John, 12, Linda, 9, Sharon, 7, and Billy, 4.

A fire department captain said "This is the worst I've ever seen."

PARENTS IN HOSPITAL

When Mrs. French arrived the scene was a mass of fire trucks, hoses and fire-shrouded firemen.

She was taken to hospital as was her husband, who suffered a three-inch gash on his leg. Both were suffering from shock, hospital officials said.

A neighbor, Jean Hodge, 18, said Mr. French told her before he was taken to hospital that the fire started after he left an electric kettle going when he went to sleep.

Father Says: "No Use In Living Now" Tells Of Desperate Rescue Attempt

From his bed in St. Joseph's Hospital today where he and Mrs. French were taken, Mr. French said: "The firemen wouldn't let me go back in, but I might as well have died, too. There's no use living without them."

"I was waiting for Effie (his wife) to come home from work, so as usual I put the kettle on the gas stove so I'd have a cup of tea waiting for her."

"Then I went into the living room, and I must have dozed off. Suddenly I woke up. I could smell smoke."

Caouette Starts Off Campaign With Anti-Nuclear Arms Salvo

MONTREAL (CP) — Real Caouette, Social Credit's deputy national leader, got his phase of the federal election campaign rolling with a blast against nuclear arms.

He told a Montreal press conference Thursday the party is opposed to Canadian forces having nuclear weapons anywhere. A reporter, wondering whether a Social Credit government would arm Canadian forces with nuclear weapons, had asked for "a straight yes-or-no answer."

"I'll give you a straight answer," Mr. Caouette said. "It's no. At home, no. abroad, no. There is nothing complicated about our position in the matter."

Speaking in the House of Commons on the same subject Jan. 24, Robert Thompson, the Social Credit leader, said "the enlargement of the nuclear club and the expansion of the nuclear stockpile must be stopped."

WILL NEVER CHANGE

Mr. Thompson said Social Credit will never adopt or support a policy whereby Canada acquires or uses offensive weapons capable of indiscriminate or uncontrollable mass destruction.

Mr. Caouette said "I don't believe in the danger of an atomic war."

He announced that the Social Credit campaign in Quebec, where the party won 26 seats in the June 1962 federal election, will open officially Feb. 24 with a rally at Montreal's St. Lawrence Market.

He predicted Social Credit will more than double its representation in Quebec, winning "at least 60 seats," and pick up enough seats elsewhere to form the next government.

It would not necessarily be a majority government, however, he said.

SHAMPOO JUST FOR EATING

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Irene Janowski, a beautiful, well-mannered woman, was unhappy with the shampoo her husband gave her when she got home from work.

The homemade shampoo consisted of sugar, salt, ketchup, mustard and a can of macaroni—all well mixed, she told Judge Arthur Kosciuszko.

"I thought it might help her in her work," Alexander Janowski told the court.

He pleaded guilty to an assault charge and will be sentenced March 7.

Soviet "Not Seeking War" But JFK Issues Warning

WASHINGTON (CP) — President Kennedy says he believes Russia wants to seize power without the risk of war. But he warned that if new Soviet nuclear missiles are introduced into Cuba, the United States will know it and the world will be faced with history's greatest crisis.

The risks in such a situation would be so alarming, Kennedy told his press conference Thursday, that he believes "the Soviet Union will proceed with caution and care."

The president said the same goes for the United States, which he said must not be stampeded into rash action on the basis of rumor and hearsay concerning Soviet strength in Cuba.

He also warned President de Gaulle that if the French leader persists in attempting to split the North Atlantic alliance, the Western camp will face disunity.

The Anglo-American Polaris agreement at Nassau, which de Gaulle had criticized, was an attempt to give three countries which lacked a nuclear capacity "a greater voice in the management of the weapons and in the political direction of the Western camp and in their control."

Kennedy also touched on Britain's failure to get into the European Common Market. "It is possible there may be some reconsideration of the British application," he said.

U.S. Turns Off Aid To Ceylon For Non-Payment In Oil Seizure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States cut off aid to Ceylon today because Ceylon has not compensated two American oil companies for seizure of their properties.

The action was required under a provision the U.S. Congress put into the 1961 Foreign Aid Act.

The agency for international development said the suspended aid includes development grants, mainly technical assistance, amounting to $800,000 for the current fiscal year and a development loan of more than $3,000,000.

To avoid hardship to the people of Ceylon, the agency said, the United States is ready to continue to provide milk and flour for a school lunch program reaching 1,817,000 children and a nutrition program for 70,000 mothers and pre-school children.

Last year Ceylon's government nationalized 83 gasoline stations belonging to two American oil companies, Esso Standard Eastern Incorporated and Caltex Ceylon Limited.

Esso Standard was reported to have valued its assets in Ceylon at about $2,500,000 and Caltex valued its assets at about $1,500,000.

Bennett Budget Slashes Taxes, Increases Grant

Municipalities Not To Suffer From "Gift" to Home Owners

VICTORIA (CP) — Premier Bennett presented his "goodies-for-all" budget in the British Columbia legislature Friday, calling for tax cuts, a three-stage increase in the home-owner grant and record expenditures and revenues.

The premier, also finance minister, placed heavy emphasis on education and announced that the government will levy its own succession duties and will give civil servants a pay increase.

He reversed a promise made in the June federal election campaign to exchange the per-capita grants to municipalities for grants in lieu of taxes by saying he now will pay both.

And he said that three of the crown agencies had a combined excess of income over all expenses of $2,000,000.

Many details of the budget proposals must await introduction of the legislation in the house.

SPECIFIC PROPOSALS
But the budget did announce: The present five-per-cent amusement tax paid on admissions to such things as theatres and sporting events will be abolished.

The present $50 grant made to home owners will be increased to $100 in three steps—$70 in 1963, $85 in 1964 and $100 in 1965 and thereafter.

A substitute for expense allowances for logging tax will be introduced to ease the tax on the lumber and pulp and paper industries—there was no further explanation of this.

Estimated expenditures for the 1963-64 fiscal year of $372,706,000—$18,564,000 more than was spent by the government last year.

Estimated revenues of $372,907,000, leaving a surplus of $201,000 at March 31, 1964.

Anticipated surplus of $4,000,000 in the fiscal year ending next March 31, making a total surplus account of $22,700,000.

All but two departments have increased appropriations with education leading the way with $93,008,000—$7,844,000 more than the year now ending and $18,193,000 more than the highways department.

The province's 15,000 civil servants will receive $3,650,000 in pay increase.

On the levying of the estate tax, Mr. Bennett said that there will be a slight decrease in the tax, now paid to the federal government.

By using $20,739,041 in the revenue surplus account he had anticipated a $587,693 surplus.

Due to higher levels of 1962 business activity than earlier anticipated total revenues estimates for the current fiscal year are revised to $355,000,000 with higher economic levels expected in 1963, total revenue estimates for the ensuing year are $372,907,000, or $17,907,000 above revised estimates for the current year.

In concluding his budget the premier said the province "can look forward with complete confidence in 1963, and the following decade, to the greatest period of economic and social progress in our history."

INCREASED INCOME
Premier Bennett said all but three departments will have increased income. Capital expenditures would decrease to $83,311,031 from $94,844,589 the year now ending.

In his last budget the premier anticipated revenues of $336,000,000 for the fiscal year 1962-63 and expenditures of $356,739,041.

Poor Meg, Tony Says Paris Jour

PARIS (AP) — "Poor Margaret! Poor Tony! Politics has obliged them to turn their backs on us."

This was typical reaction today in the Paris press to the cancellation of the couple's visit to Paris scheduled for March 8-11.

It was generally assumed by Frenchmen that the official reason for calling off the trip was "only a pretext" and that the real reason was the souring of French-British relations over President Charles de Gaulle's veto of British entry into the Common Market.

Eskimo Boy Dies Defending Mother

OTTAWA (CP) — A six-year-old Eskimo boy was fatally stabbed Tuesday when he attempted to help his mother ward off the unwelcome advances of a visitor to their home in the Frobiisher Bay area, the RCMP said today.

Dead is Salomonee Onalik, who received a several stab wounds in a scuffle which occurred about midnight. The boy's mother, Martha Onalik, was also wounded but is reported in good condition in hospital.

The RCMP said it is holding 40-year-old Meegeenee for questioning.

Warmer Weather Pays Brief Visit

CHICAGO (AP) — A blast of icy air from Canada, fanned by strong northerly winds, swept across broad areas in the eastern half of the United States today, ending a brief spell of fairly mild winter weather in many sections.

Temperatures tumbled to below zero from upper Michigan eastward into northern Maine and southward into New York State. The mercury dropped to 19 below in Pellston, Mich., one of the coldest spots.

The temperature dropped to two below zero in New York City this morning, the lowest reading in the city in two years.

Shirley Raymer, the 11-year-old Vancouver girl who told police about a youth with a knife who cut her 24 times, robbed her and her sister of $1.50, has confessed it was all imagination. Cuts were caused by a fall on broken glass, and money from the bottles was spent on candy, she said.

SOVIET SPY PLOT REVEALED

Miss X Talk of Australia

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — "Miss X," the Australian secret service agent who unmasked Russian diplomat Ivan Skripov, was the talk of Australia today. The Sydney Sun says she is a beautiful Sydney divorcee in her early 30s with a university degree. It is believed Skripov formed such a strong attachment for her that he manoeuvred to remain in Australia when he was due to leave last June. She does not appear on the security service weekly payroll but is paid by contract on results.

The Sun says she studied Skripov and his dossier for months before taking steps to make his acquaintance. The Sydney Daily Mirror says the cat-and-mouse game that led to Skripov's downfall began at most from the moment he arrived in Australia June, 1959. It described "Miss X" as a charming young brunette, glib, cool-headed, with a trim figure and an unerring taste in clothes.

Having arranged a meeting with Skripov, she poured out to him a fictitious story of a broken romance and blamed the Australian government for her sweetheart's death. She said that as a result she hated Australia so much she was willing to help Russia.

Secrecy Reveal Ratification Of Columbia Near Last Spring

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia government said Thursday the controversial International Columbia Treaty was almost ratified last spring.

The Social Credit government also said.

The takeover of the B.C. Electric Company followed B.C.E.'s refusal to purchase power from a proposed northern Peace River project.

Agreement is close on the sale of downstream benefits resulting from the Columbia River treaty.

Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former Canadian head of the International Joint Commission, can find no support among hydroelectric engineers for his alternative to the Columbia treaty.

Land and Forests Minister Williston gave the government's position as he wound up the three-hour speech debate in the legislature.

He said there was substantial agreement at a meeting last March 19 between Premier Bennett and Finance Minister Fleming on the plan for ratification of the Columbia treaty.

"British Columbia was confident the action was imminent," he said on April 12, External Affairs Minister Duggan said the treaty will be referred to the external affairs committee of the Commons before ratification.

The Columbia agreement, ratified by the U.S. calls for construction of three storage dams in B.C. Fifty per cent of the power generated in the United States from water stored in Canada would be returned to B.C.

Mr. Williston did not say outright that the reason the government took over the B.C.E. in August, 1961, was because it refused to buy power from a hydroelectric project planned by the interests of Swedish financier Axel Wenner-Gren on the Peace.

But he said B.C.E. wanted to acquire the Columbia downstream benefits for two mills per kilowatt hour two mills below the cost of production.

In the spring of 1961 the government decided the best policy would be to sell the downstream power in the U.S.

BCE Declined To Buy Peace Power And "Moved Toward Takeover Bid"

BCE declined to purchase the power of Peace River Development Company, the Wenner-Gren interests, and "at the same time actively purchased shares as a move towards gaining control of the company."

The company also continued to press for the return of Columbia power to B.C. and expedited the planning of a 900-megawatt thermal power plant in Vancouver.

The government took over the company, paying its parent B.C. Power Corporation a total of $171,000,000 in two instalments. At the same time it took over $5,000,000 of the plans and surveys of the Wenner-Gren interests in the north.

The BCE was merged with the B.C. Power Commission to form the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority. The Authority was given the job of developing the Peace. Tenders have been called for a giant dam at an estimated cost of $100,000,000.

Mr. Williston described Gen. McNaughton as a sincere man whose engineering the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority was supported by Liberal and New Democratic Party politicians for political gain but which were refuted by competent engineers, even those who once worked with him.

The two groups, he said, were "attempting to create every last ounce of political advantage out of a man who has made his mark, now is past his prime, never has been an acknowledged hydraulic engineer and now stands alone."

PLEADS WITH OPPOSITION
Mr. Williston pleaded with both groups to stop "riding on the coattails of a man who is sincerely motivated."

Robert Strachan, NDP opposition leader, called it an "unfair attack."

The general's proposal calls for diversion of the Upper Kootenay River into the Columbia. Mr. Williston said that since the Columbia River treaty will be placed before the external affairs committee for examination prior to ratification, it is likely Gen. McNaughton will be called as a witness.

"It can be inferred that there will be an attack on the treaty as presently drafted, using this gentleman to spearhead the argument."

Mr. Williston said H. W. (Bert) Hurrell, NDP member for Kootenay West in the federal house, "has used the committee and Gen. McNaughton to build up support for his own recommended plan of river development."

"LIBERALS GO ALONG"
The Liberals went along, Mr. Williston said, "without specifying any recommended changes."

The general has been placed in a position where he will face "a very unfair, unjust and unwarranted interrogation" which "can lead only to a clouding of the prestige which he has justly earned through a lifetime of service on behalf of the Canadian people."

Mr. Williston said that if Gen. McNaughton is right, then all the federal and provincial experts, plus most of the country's independent hydro consultants are wrong.

Mr. Williston told Randolph Harding, NDP member for Kaslo-Slocan, that if the McNaughton plan is followed the debt on the Columbia project will be $100,000,000 in 1975-76 based on the sale of the power at four mills a kilowatt hour.

He praised the general for his work in international river administration and said "in so doing he has earned the eternal gratitude of every single resident of Canada."

Total Of 10,000 Tribesmen Said Ready To Invade Brunei

JAKARTA (Reuters)—About 10,000 tribesmen plan to enter northern Borneo to join rebels fighting British troops in Brunei, the official Indonesian news agency Antara reported today.

Antara said the 10,000 tribesmen were only the "first batch" of Iban, Punan and Kenyah natives who had decided to go into northern Borneo. The agency said the tribesmen were armed with blowpipes, bush knives and bows and arrows because they did not consider firearms practical for guerrilla warfare.

Most of the fighting in Brunei has been on a small scale since British troops crushed the revolt in the main centre of the sultanate last December.

(Indonesia has opposed the federation and reports from Hong Kong Thursday said Indonesian fighter planes have been patrolling the Borneo and Sarawak frontier.)

New York Times Blasts JFK On "Deplorable Diplomacy"

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Times warns that the present political crisis in Canada, which it says was triggered "by a deplorably undiplomatic and heavy-handed" U.S. statement, could deal another blow to Western and hemispheric solidarity.

In an editorial written by western and international editors—the New York editions have not been published since Dec. 8 because of a printers strike—the Times says:

"The political crisis in Canada could deal another blow to Western and hemispheric solidarity and even endanger the defence of the North American continent."

"The Canadian crisis was triggered by a deplorably undiplomatic and heavy-handed statement issued by the state department under obvious pressure from some of the armed services."

The newspaper commented on the overthrow of the Progressive Conservative government of Prime Minister Diefenbaker which came less than a week after the state department had issued a statement calling on Canada to obtain U.S. nuclear warheads and rebuked Diefenbaker for statements he had made on the matter.

"Unfortunately as the American statement was," says the Times, "it was only the catalyst for a crisis that has been simmering in Canada ever since Mr. Diefenbaker lost his parliamentary majority . . . last June."

Most of these young men and women, volunteers of Canadian University Service Overseas, will teach in secondary schools for two-year periods in such far-off spots as Guinea, The Congo and Sarawak.

The scheme's sponsors regard the assignments as a unique opportunity to help meet the educational and technological needs of less-developed countries simultaneously allowing the young teachers to visit distant areas and learn valuable lessons in how to live among the emergent nationalisms of a changing world.

District Teen Scene George Elliot Junior Red Cross Plans Two Big Activities

February promises to be a busy month for students of George Elliot Secondary School. The Junior Red Cross, minus male members, is preparing two activities for the very near future. The penny drive to be held soon will win for some lucky person a lovely stuffed dog. On February 14, a candy guess with chocolates as the prizes is to be held.

The athletic teams are still holding on to their win columns and during the past weekend the senior girls' basketball team won second place at the Kamloops tournament. Our junior girls and boys and senior boys' basketball teams won their league games against Immaculata high school. It was indeed a winning weekend.

The photography club announces that reorganization of the club is now well under way. Future meetings will be held on Fridays at noon. Don't forget development will come if desired.

Valentine's day will soon be here and your drama club is holding a sock dance to celebrate the occasion. Take your valentine and have a good time on Thursday. The much awaited talent contest will be held on February 22. Get your act in shape. Remember, you don't have to be a second Greta Garbo or a Rock Hudson to take part.

Our thought for the week runs something like this: If at first you don't succeed, try again. Success is the favorable end or result of any undertaking.

Liberal Demands Government Must Halt Crown Appointments

OTTAWA (CP)—J. W. Pickersgill, a former clerk of the Privy Council and long-time secretary to two Liberal prime ministers, said Thursday the Diefenbaker government should make no permanent Crown appointments until its future is determined by the April 8 election.

The Liberal MP for Bonaville—Trenton raised the question in connection with a press release issued today by Acting Defence Minister Pierre Sevigny which identified him as "minister of national defence."

"Since there has been no announcement by the prime minister that this post has been filled, I wonder if the prime minister is keeping any more orders-in-council secret," Mr. Pickersgill told a reporter.

He recalled that in the 1962 election campaign, two appointments to the Senate were made before election day which were not made public until after voting. They were the appointments of Ontario organizer Harry A. Willis of Toronto and Manitoba organizer Campbell Haig of Winnipeg.

The Sevigny press release, announcing that Canada and Britain will continue their joint training program for British Army battalions in Canada, described Mr. Sevigny—on his instructions, it was learned—as "minister of national defence."

Asked by reporters today about his position, Mr. Sevigny said: "I am, as matters stand, acting minister."

Was he to be named minister?
"That is something for someone else to say," Mr. Sevigny said. "No nomination to my cabinet post is official until it has been ratified before the Governor-General. I have nothing to say at the moment."

Mr. Pickersgill said that having lost the confidence of the Commons in two votes on Tuesday night, it would be "quite improper" for the government to recommend appointments to the Governor-General until it has won a clear-cut majority in an election, or has met a new House of Commons and won a confidence vote.

That was the position the late Mackenzie King took in 1925 when it failed to win a clear majority in the election and resigned in 1926 after it became clear it could not win a confidence motion, he said.

Tough British Paratroopers Fight "Big Battle" In Arctic

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—A case-hardened company of British paratroopers is fighting a battle of survival against the Canadian sub-Arctic.

The decision will remain in doubt unless the fight becomes deadly serious, but at this stage the tough Britons appear to have piled up an early lead on points.

"The lads have acquitted themselves well and morale is excellent," said Maj. Neil Fidler of Farnham, Surrey. "But we still feel we have much to learn."

He was speaking of the performance of D Company Group of the 3rd Battalion, Parachute Regiment, in the final stages of a two-week winter environment training program in the barren lands near this military base on Hudson Bay, 600 miles north of Winnipeg.

The temperature reached a low of about 40 degrees below zero last week but has moderated to a comparatively balmy few degrees below. Readings of between 30 and 40 below are not unusual in the area.

"This sort of winter condition was new to every mother's son of us," said Maj. Fidler.

LEARNING FAST
The men approached it with awe and consternation in some cases. They've caught on well, however. We've learned a lot of tricks about keeping alive in this climate but we feel we still have a lot more to learn."

The 168 officers and men of D Company here have combined lectures at Fort Churchill and field work during the last two weeks under the guidance of Canadian army instructors.

On the barracks they travel as a combat unit with toboggans, tents, rifles, Vickers machine-guns, sub-machine-guns, Bren guns, trench mortars and anti-tank rifles.

Bishop Coleman At Immaculata

By LETHIA SCHORN
During the last week in January the students had a rather special guest in to visit them. Bishop Coleman of the Anglican Church came to Immaculata and spoke to each of the classes. His leadership talked on the subject of Christian unity.

He gave the students a general idea of some of the things the Protestant churches have been doing to promote the idea of Christian unity. He also gave his views on the ecumenical council and what it means to the various Protestant churches.

All in all, his talks were very interesting and thought-provoking. The students were very much impressed.

WRONG FOOT
Getting on to another subject, I might add that it seems as though the basketball teams started the new month out on the wrong foot!

Last Friday night, Immaculata hosted the George Elliot teams to three basketball games. Even though the boys lost all they had into the game, they just could not seem to get going. As a result the tables turned to favor George Elliot with a three score victory. Following are the team scores: Junior boys, 36-16; Junior girls, 13-3; and senior boys 49-30.

Speaking of the weekend, coming up this Friday, all three teams, junior boys and girls and senior boys will go to Kamloops.

I might add that the year book club has really been on the hop these last few weeks. Margaret Caserio, editor, and her helpers have a deadline to meet, and are tripping along very well. They are hoping that they will meet the deadline before it meets them.

Union Raps Victoria Hanger Drive Teen Town Plan

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (Ind.) accused the provincial government Thursday of closing every available door against workers wanting to contest Workmen's Compensation Board decisions in court.

Union compensation officer Les Walker said a medical review panel set up to hear appeals by workers against WCB decisions "could be expected to grind out more confirmations of WCB decisions."

Under cross-examination at the royal commission hearing into WCB operations, Walker said his union has advised workers against going to the medical review panel because once the panel has made its decision there is no further appeal.

Thursday's was the 44th day of hearings before the commission and officials said it is expected to continue at least as long again.

LEGISLATURE AT A GLANCE

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Lands and Forest Minister Williston wound up the throne speech debate saying the B.C. Electric refused to buy Peace power before it was taken over. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, former Canadian chairman of the International Joint Commission, was past his prime and Canada almost ratified the Columbia River Treaty last year.

Alan Macdonald (NDP—Vancouver East) said the Attorney-General's department was lax in not taking action against three men who bilked B.C. investors.

The Speech from the Throne was adopted 28-21.

Once Top Skipper Draws Jobless Pay

SOUTHPORT, England (AP)
Capt. John Caunce, former skipper of the liner Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth, began his retirement by lining up with the jobless Thursday and drawing unemployment pay.

Caunce, 63, retired last week as commodore of the Cunard fleet. He had been with the shipping line 41 years.

Caunce: "I want a job—anything to help me keep up my standard of living. I can't do that on my pension."
The Cunard line said Caunce's pension "is a four-figure one"—meaning he draws at least £1,000 ($3,000) a year.

TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market slipped to the downside during moderate morning trading today.

Banks were the major weakening influence in the main list, with Montreal and Nova Scotia both down 1/4, Toronto Dominion off 1/4 and Royal off 1/2.

Albitoli, Algoma Steel, Pacer-Hershey Tubes, Walker Godefrum and Shawinigan all declined in a 1/4 to 3/4 range.

Massey Ferguson showed one of the few gains, advancing 1/4. On the exchange index, industrials dropped 1.65 to 531.48, golds 1.14 to 198.62 and Western oils .35 to 114.61. Golds rose .16 to 92.51. The 11 a.m. volume was 730,000 shares, compared with 678,000 at the same time yesterday.

Among base metals, Denison dipped 1/4 and Noranda 1/4, while Hudson Bay Mining advanced 1/4. Deer Horn continued to lead the speculative pack, gaining five cents to 70 cents on a turnover of more than 120,000 shares.

In quiet Western oils action, Home A, Hudson's Bay and Calgary and Edmonton all dropped in a 1/4 to 3/4 range.

HAIR CHANGES SO QUICKLY

TORONTO (CP)—Hair color will no longer be needed on applications for drivers' licences, says Ontario James Auld.

A woman's hair may be red when she applies for a licence and black a week later, he said.

"Then there's the question of bald men."

Spring Highway Bans Imposed Next Monday

The B.C. Department of Highways in Kelowna said today, road restrictions will go into effect next week in the South Okanagan district from Trout Creek to Wood Lake.

Effective Sunday morning, all provincial roads in the district are limited to legal night-way loadings, said Al Friesbain, district engineer, dept. of highways in Kelowna.

The restrictions will be imposed due to the mud weather conditions in the district.

"These restrictions," he said, "will limit truck traffic to what they can legally carry. There are special permits issued to individual truckers to carry overloads which we are now cancelling."

Further restrictions are likely to be in effect later on, depending on the existing weather conditions.

"Most truckers are aware of the implications of the restriction for the protection of existing roads," he said.

"We are not experiencing any trouble at the present time, although some gravel roads in the Joe Rich and McCallough areas are a little soft, but no extensive damage has been reported as yet."

Bob White, weighmaster at the Kelowna weigh station on the Vernon Road, reports that truck traffic is moving very slowly at present. "Most of the truckers are aware of the annual restrictions and confine their trips to a minimum."

Jail Terms Handed Youths On Contributing To Delinquency

Two Kelowna youths were given jail sentences for contributing to juvenile delinquency in magistrate's court Friday.

An eighth youth, charged with the same offence, pleaded not guilty and was remanded in custody until Feb. 15.

"The community has to be protected against the recurring delinquency prevalent in our community," said Magistrate D. M. White, in passing sentence.

"I have worked with these boys in minor hockey and find it exceedingly difficult to reach a decision, but these sentences are most justifiable."

"I feel acts of this sort are intolerable and must be stamped out," said the magistrate.

Philip Patrick Larden, 24, Wilson Ave., Kelowna, was given a jail sentence of 12 months definite and 18 months indeterminate.

Ken Hamanishi, Byrns Rd., Kelowna, was given a jail sentence of one month and a $250 fine, or in default of payment an additional six months in jail.

Anthony Selin, 349 Fuller Ave., pleaded not guilty to the charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency and was remanded in custody until Feb. 15. A ninth youth, who is a juvenile, will appear in juvenile court today on the same charge.

A further five youths have yet to be sentenced on the same charge and are being held in custody.

A Kelowna man charged with an infraction of the motor vehicle act also appeared in police court this morning.

Hans Mendel, 1826 Pandosy St., Kelowna, appeared in police court charged with backing up his motor vehicle while it was unsafe to do so. The charge was laid following an accident Wednesday when Mr. Mendel backed out of his driveway into the path of an oncoming car. Mr. Mendel pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and costs.

Adventist Area Mission Appeal Reaches Objective Of $2,500

The 59th annual world missions appeal in Kelowna and Winfield district, sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventists, has attained its 1962 goal of $2,500.

"I would like to thank all who so graciously contributed to make this appeal a real success," said Pastor L. R. Krenzler of Kelowna.

"The funds collected are divided between district needs such as welfare and disaster units, and world needs such as clinics, dispensaries, leper colonies, mission schools, often the only facilities available to large populations."

"It is part of a world appeal," he said. "Funds from this appeal totalled approximately five per cent of the $99,902,355 given by members last year."

"The per capita contributions of Adventists in North America is well over $200 for all baptized members," said Mr. Krenzler.

Mrs. E. Hoppe, secretary of the district Dorcas welfare centre at Richter St. and Layson Ave., reports that 1,676 articles of clothing have been distributed since October 1, 1962. Other items distributed for the period ending January 31, 1963 include 13 quilts, two blankets, four pillows, two sheets, three baby quilts, one bed and one mattress.

Mrs. H. P. Kite, director of the district Dorcas welfare centre, said, "there are a few thousand articles of clothing, and some bedding, stock-piled in Rutland for emergency use."

Mrs. Kite said there is a shortage of men's work clothes of every kind, and of boys' clothes. Children's and women's clothing will also be accepted.

Fog Blankets City And District

Visibility was reduced to half a city block this morning as fog blanketed the city. The fog began to lift gradually by noon.

High and low temperatures recorded in Kelowna Thursday were 50 and 27, compared to 37 and 31 on the same date last year, with a trace of snow also recorded.

The dominion public weather bureau in Vancouver reports temperatures in general will remain mild over the whole of the province, today.

A storm track lies from north of Hawaii to just off the U.S. and B.C. coasts and into the northern Gulf of Alaska.

One surge lies off Oregon and will pass northward up the B.C. coast today, while another is expected off the Washington coast Saturday morning. Each of these storms will give an increase in precipitation and wind along the coast.

TEACHING MACHINE UNDER DISCUSSION

Roy Daniels, principal of Raymer Ave. elementary school in Kelowna, looks at a working model of the "Teaching Machine" and instruction program book that will be introduced at a teachers' session in Summerland February 16.

The teaching machine, operated manually, is designed to help students learn more rapidly. A combined question and answer sheet are inserted into the machine, and the student works at his own rate of speed. The book can be used in place of the machine. The question and answer sheets are designed in the same manner, as those in the machine. (Courtesy Photo)

Mayor Pleased By New Budget

Mayor R. F. Parkinson today, told the Daily Courier, he was "pleasantly surprised" with many points in Premier W. A. C. Bennett's 1963 budget, presented to the Legislature today.

"We are pleased to hear the amusement tax will be removed for that will benefit our Kelowna and many other community activities."

Most highlights of the budget were read to the Mayor over the phone.

"We were most fearful of the home-owner grant, as it was originally interpreted when the premier first broached the subject."

"He seems to have come up with a very happy compromise. Instead of saddling business with the full impact of the increase, he has increased the grant slightly, and retained the per-capita grants we formerly received."

"As long as the municipalities receive these grants-in-aid as we have in the past, the increased home-owner grants won't hurt us much."

"Of course we are pleased to hear of the grant equivalent to 15 mills on provincial property. We have three fairly large buildings in Kelowna and they formerly brought in no revenue," said the Mayor.

Kelowna UBC Alumni Group Hears Of Greenland At Meeting

Borge Haagenen of Vancouver, will be the guest speaker at the regular general meeting of the U.B.C. Alumni association, Kelowna Branch, Monday, February 11 at 8 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the home of Alexander Pettipiece, Bluebird Road, Kelowna.

The meeting will include general business and advancement of particulars, regarding the forthcoming one-day conference on Higher Education, which will be held in Kelowna March 9.

Mr. Haagenen will speak on his five-year experience in northern Greenland, a portion of which time was spent on a combined archeological meteorological expedition on behalf of the Danish Government. His talk will be illustrated by color slides.

"The combination of Mr. Haagenen's ability to communicate to his listeners, the fascinating account of life in the arctic, together with outstanding slides of this relatively unknown area, will undoubtedly provide a very interesting evening," said association president Gordon Newhouse.

Persons requiring further information or transportation, are asked to contact Mr. Newhouse at PO 2-5394.

All U.B.C. Alumni are urged to attend and a welcome is extended to any graduates of other universities.

ADJUDICATOR

Anthony Holland, president of the B.C. Guild of Drama Adjudicators, will be the speech arts adjudicator at the 27th annual Okanagan Valley Musical Festival April 1-6, in Kelowna. Mr. Holland is presently associated with Mrs. Elsie Graham in the Graham-Holland School of Acting in Vancouver and over the past few years, has been instrumental in developing the successful drama therapy program at the Hancy Correctional Institute. For the past 25 years, he has been actively associated with the theatre as both a professional actor and director. He gained his early training in England and prior to coming to Canada in 1957, was vice-principal of the "Old Vic Theatre School." Entries for the festival close Sunday.

Prowler, Thefts Reported Here

A prowler, two thefts and a possible dog poisoning were reported to RCMP overnight.

Ms. Ogronick, Teliswig Rd., Winfield, reported a prowler was in the vicinity of her house. RCMP searched the immediate area with no result.

Ronald Stevens, Westbank, reported the theft of his 14-foot motor and compressor unit which had been stolen. The unit was worth $100 and was taken sometime since Jan. 1. RCMP are investigating.

Fred Bartlett, OK Mission, reported the theft of his 14-foot aluminum boat valued at $200 from its moorings at the Yacht Club. RCMP are investigating.

Mrs. Mary Hobal, 1464 Richter St., Kelowna, reported her dog had been poisoned on Thursday. The dog was taken to the veterinarian where it was given treatment and recovered.

BUTTERCUPS OUT AT RUTLAND

Buttercups are already in bloom in the Rutland area.

Mrs. Ernie Carlson, Mills Road, Rutland, Thursday picked several of the tiny yellow flowers growing in her garden.

"There are still many more growing in the same place," she said. "Some are in bloom and others are still in bud."

Twenty-First Report Given

Archdeacon D. S. Catchpole read his twenty-first report at the annual Parish supper and vestry meeting of St. Michael and All Angels Church Wednesday.

W. R. Carruthers, treasurer, reported that all accounts were paid and the bank loans for the heating system and the construction of the present rectory had been retired. Hall bonds remained to be redeemed.

The rector appointed B. C. Weddell as his warden, and the vestry elected C. A. Pettman as the people's warden. Those elected to the church committee were: D. Bruce, W. R. Carruthers, E. W. Coe, R. B. Deans, F. H. G. Farrell, I. F. Greenwood, C. Shaylor, G. H. Hansen, G. E. Marshall, R. J. Marshall, J. G. Hurdle, H. M. Powley, H. V. Webb, Mrs. J. Anderson and Mrs. A. McPham.

Delegates to synod elected were R. J. Marshall and Guy Greenwood.

Votes of thanks were given to the clergy, church committee, auditor and the hostesses for the dinner.

South Trans-Provincial Said "Suicide Road" In Places

WESTBANK (Special)—Delegates to a meeting of the Okanagan - Boundary Associated Boards of Trade, Thursday passed resolutions asking the provincial government to complete the southern trans-provincial highway and urging the completion of a by-pass around Penticton.

Kelowna is a member of the Okanagan-Mainline group and their quarterly meeting will be held in Kelowna on Tuesday, February 19.

A strenuous plea was made for valley communities and residents to "stop pushing Indians around."

Roy Luch of Cawston told delegates there "is an injustice to the Indian in forcing him to give up lands for highway construction."

"Everywhere you go the Indians have been pushed around. You are pushing the Indian too far into the mountains."

SOUTH ROUTE

Another resolution dealing with the highways, asked the government to complete, at the earliest, the southern trans-provincial highway.

Stan Stodola of Osoyoos said work on the highway is progressing "rather slowly" and more action is urgently needed.

Mr. Luch said that so far construction has been a "hit-and-miss" deal and in the Richer Pass section it would have been better if the government had "never touched the road."

SUICIDE

Mr. Luch said despite thousands of dollars spent on the highway around Keremeos and in the Kootenay, some places can be termed "suicide roads" for tourists and travellers.

George Desbriay, president of the Penticton chamber, said delegates should endorse the resolution but also put in a notation that the southern route was open all winter—that is more than what can be said about the Trans-Canada.

Delegates did not act on a suggestion the associated boards protest any suggestion that fruit checking stations be abolished.

Douglas Andrews, past-president of the Penticton chamber, said delegates should endorse the resolution but also put in a notation that the southern route was open all winter—that is more than what can be said about the Trans-Canada.

Okanagan Boundary Trade Boards Elect New Slate At Westbank

WESTBANK (Special)—Stan Stodola of Osoyoos, a former vice-president was elected president of the Okanagan Boundary Associated Board of Trade at a meeting here Thursday.

Dudley Pritchard, was unanimously named to the vice-presidency.

Douglas (Bud) Andrews of Penticton was named director-at-large. The president will name a secretary-treasurer.

A resolution submitted by Mr. Pritchard urging the provincial government's department of forestry to implement sustained yield in the Okanagan Valley "slowly and gradually" was endorsed by the group, following a lengthy discussion.

Mr. Pritchard said if the government's proposal is implemented immediately small mills in the Valley "will be washed up."

A motion by Roy Luch of Cawston that the matter be tabled until more information was available was defeated.

Past president Hugh Fitzpatrick said little can be gained by the boards of trade endorsing the resolution as the minister of forestry is "aware of the situation and will not knowingly put people out of work."

Despite a suggestion from Mr. Pritchard that maybe the matter should be discussed by the various member boards first the resolution was passed in their expansion.

Storage Report Issued Today

A total of 1,433,828 boxes of apples and 28,136 boxes of pears are still being held in Okanagan Valley cold storage plants, according to the February report of the Canada Department of Agriculture.

Provincial cold storage total is 1,490,925 boxes of apples along with 30,322 boxes of pears.

The following is a complete breakdown of storage plants, and quantities stored, throughout the Okanagan Valley.

APPLES

Total boxes of apples in Okanagan cold storage are: Kelowna-Westbank 408,734 boxes, Winfield-Okanagan Centre 120,511, Summerland 82,742, Naramata 52,897, Penticton 151,067, Salmon Arm, 52,897, Vernon, 52,897, Osoyoos 52,897, Keremeos 68,053, Kaleden 17,373, Oliver-Osoyoos 40,767.

PEARS

Total boxes of pears in cold storage in the Valley include 2,337 boxes at Winfield-Okanagan Centre, 22,886 boxes at Kelowna-Westbank, 1,278 boxes at Summerland, 53 boxes at Naramata, 1,095 boxes at Penticton, 551 boxes at Keremeos, 41 boxes at Kaleden, and 139 boxes at Oliver-Osoyoos.

A total of 14,670 boxes of apples are in controlled atmosphere storage at Rutland, and 1,384 boxes of apples are in common storage at Lytton-Chase where no cold storage is available.

Distillery Plans Definitely Laid

Mayor R. F. Parkinson of Kelowna told the Daily Courier today, he expects to be in Vancouver next week and hopes to confer with the head office of Orchard Distilleries there regarding further developments in their expansion.

"Definite plans to expand their present property to a full scale operation have already been laid."

The property is located in the 1000 block Ethel Street, which forms the eastern boundary. The 400 foot by 650 foot lot is bounded on the south by Weddell Place, on the North by Crowley Avenue and Martin Paper Products Ltd.

LITTLE THEATRE REHEARSALS NEARING END

Nightly practices are reaching the "touch up" stage on the Kelowna Little Theatre play "Night of January 16" being staged in the Community Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday nights. Here, at a Thursday night practice, Roy Lobb (right), crown prosecutor makes a point in an argument with Theodore Black (left), defence counsel before the watchful eye of Judge Charles Patrick. CANADA'S FIRST FIVE DAY PLAN ENDS HERE

Heads Up—We're Free of Tobacco

By I. B. SMOKELESS

More than 40 grateful people Thursday night undertook to cease smoking as Canada's first "Five Day Plan" to stop smoking, ended at the Capri Motor Inn.

The final session of group therapy was held as that one to teach you how to keep your weight down. Actually there was little added last night, to what had been given the class, over the previous four lectures. We already know how to keep our weight down, if we will but apply it.

NEXT COURSE

"A number of people are interested in taking The Five Day Plan that were not able to attend this one, and if sufficient requests are received it is possible we may run one," said Dr. Nigel Drutt, as the course ended.

The address for further information is The Five Day Plan, Box 150, Rutland.

Although the course is sponsored by Pastor L. R. Krenzler of the Seventh-Day Adventist churches in the area, religion played a very small part in the course.

A person can't live without religion completely, of course. There were no fees, there were no plans for church membership, no other gimmicks.

SERVICE

Why then did these people take five nights, not only to lecture those who wanted to attend, but obviously there was much preparation before each of the lectures. They were interesting, they were well planned out and they were most effective.

"We have been pleased to provide this course in a community service," said Dr. Drutt.

"It has been a real pleasure to meet you and become better acquainted," said Pastor Krenzler.

Some people of course have made donations to the church missionary work, but there is no obligation.

By the way, I checked this morning and I haven't gained a pound since Sunday when I had that last smoke!

And don't let anyone kid you, it really is worth while. Your food tastes better, you can smell things, you can sleep better and your mind is clearer when you aren't smoking.

MUCH EASIER

Most people want to quit smoking, and this Five Day Plan can make it easy for you, at least make it much easier than if you try it by yourself.

If you are an organ enthusiast, you can go to class a few minutes early and take a little time to appreciate Maria Carr and her little nightly recitals. At least those who attended the first course were enthralled by her artistry.

It's been a rewarding week. Watch the Courier for further progress reports on those who took the course.

Scholarships Needed For Musical Proteges

Next Sunday is the closing date for entries in the 37th Annual Okanagan Valley Musical Festival. For the next six weeks the volunteer members of the Okanagan Valley Musical Competition Festival Association will be hard at work, organizing the comings and goings of some 2,500 children, before the watchful eyes of five of the most highly renowned adjudicators, available through the Federation of Canadian Music Festivals.

Spring is the time for planting. In the music world the winter season is spent in long hours of practice developing that seed for the planting at the music festival, that nowadays, is found in virtually every town and city in Canada.

It is only by comparison that we may judge the best; it is only by trial that we may find out what we are made of and it is only through the efforts of those volunteers that the budding musical oak may be nurtured and brought to manliness.

Rigid standards must be developed and it is for this reason that so many Canadian adjudicators are graduates of Kneller Hall and other English institutions of musical learning. They travel the breadth of our country. There is little difference in the makeup of the festival should it be in Kelowna or in Prince Albert or in Clinton but the results are often as different as people are different.

This difference makes itself felt along the upper fringes of the competitors, where long years of study and of competitive work against others who used to be their betters, have now whetted the edge of a coming musical personality. It is here and here alone that this emergence may first be sighted. When the adjudicator sees something outstanding, in the light of all that she has seen on her tour, that shoot is ready to be transplanted.

In this Canada of ours where we claim everyone has an equal chance, you often see the most ineligible pocketbook with the most eligible talent. And that is where the heart of the district is found, standing beside the glowing tribute of the adjudicator with a well-earned scholarship for the child that possibly could go no further without assistance.

The Okanagan Valley Festival now has five scholarships valued at a total of $380. Two of these, valued at $150 each, are new this year.

We suggest it is high time consideration was given to additional scholarships for these youngsters.

Surely, if the city and a large number of interested people can come forward and build such an edifying structure as our Community Theatre, a few others can be found who will help put the artists in the orchestra pit, or under the glaring spotlight, reserved for the well trained scholar who must go far beyond the teaching capabilities of small community teachers, however good they are.

The donor need not be philanthropic — it comes to giving scholarships, they are deductible for tax purposes.

It is also true that many of the youngsters who gain top marks before the adjudicators between April 1 and 6 this year will be heard of no more, simply because they cannot afford to go on to better things.

The Festival Secretary will accept any donations — and gladly give you a receipt.

Lotteries: Snare, Delusions

When the Canadian parliament re-assembles shortly it doubtless will hear, if its life lasts for a few more months, from the advocates of state lotteries. We shall be told that the cheap and easy way to finance hospitals, for instance, is to promote gambling under government auspices.

Canada has long talked about this experiment but New Zealand has tried it. Now the results are available in definite figures and they should be read with interest here.

The New Zealand lottery is described as such a popular success that many eager clients could not buy the limited tickets. The government collected $1.3 millions from taxes levied on these tickets and altogether it collected almost $4 millions which will be distributed to various charities.

The prizes won by lucky ticket holders amounted to about $6.6 millions. Charity got less than half the total take.

At first glance this may seem encouraging to those who see lotteries as a solution to some of Canada's financial problems. But a second glance, taken by The Winnipeg Free Press, rather dampens these hopes.

New Zealand, as The Free Press says, has a population of about 2.2 million and Canada has about 18 million. Thus a Canadian lottery on the New Zealand model should bring in something like $36 millions a year, or $45 millions if the New Zealand type of tax were applied to tickets.

Assuming, in round figures, that the Canadian lottery would provide this much money, how far would it go toward meeting the cost of hospitals?

In the last fiscal year the Canadian hospital insurance system cost about $800 millions. A lottery of the New Zealand sort, The Free Press observes, would raise about a twentieth of that amount, leaving nineteen-twentieths to be raised by taxes.

"Putting it another way," The Free Press adds, "in order to raise through a lottery enough money to finance our hospital insurance program, Canadians would have to buy at least $1.6 billion worth of sweep-stake tickets each year. That sum is about one-quarter of the national budget."

"In brief, the New Zealand experiment proves what has long been held by opponents of national lotteries; that, as a means of raising money, such lotteries are wasteful inefficient and highly expensive."

Moreover, apart from moral objections to gambling sponsored by the state, no conceivable Canadian lottery could have any serious effect on the nation's swollen budget.

BC Shipyards Enjoy Boom But Storm May Be Sighted

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's multi-million-dollar shipyard industry is enjoying its biggest boom since the war, but industry spokesmen are asking, "Is this the storm before the lull?"

Many fear it is. All three big Pacific Coast yards, Burrard Drydock in North Vancouver, Yarrows and Victoria Machinery Depot—are busier than they have been in years.

But the ships the men are working on today will be at sea by mid-summer. Industry men say construction activity then will slacken off and stay that way unless a new shipbuilding program is launched.

J. W. Hudson, executive vice-president of Burrard, says work on hand and anticipated orders promise some measure of stability for 1967.

"But there's going to be a lull, no doubt about that," he adds. "It's too late to plan ships now for construction in July and there's going to be a slowdown of orders for the coastal fleet because of the number of new ships that have been added in the last two or three years."

DEEPSEA SUBSIDY

Mr. Hudson and such fellow shipyard executives as Harold Hudson of Victoria Machinery Depot say what is needed is a government subsidy to help build a deepsea fleet. Unless that is forthcoming, they say, commercial orders will not be sufficient to maintain shipyard employment.

Burrard today employs some 1,200 people in the yards and offices. Yarrows, an associate company, employs about the same number. Victoria Machinery Depots has about 1,000.

Industry men concede the figures, while well below wartime levels when Burrard alone employed 15,000 men, are a step up from the low point of 1949-50.

Naval and government shipbuilding and repair work have been the basis of shipyard prosperity since then.

Burrard is contracting a new destroyer escort vessel and completing a major conversion of another. A new coastal cargo-passenger ship for Northland Navigation is taking shape on Burrard ways, along with a small coastguard vessel, and workmen are laying steel hull sections for a new Gulf Island ferry.

Over at Yarrows another coastguard ship, a destroyer escort, a $1,000,000 Pacific Naval Laboratory vessel and some barges are being built. VMD is completing two B.C. Toll Authority ferries and then will move into conversion of another destroyer escort for the navy and build a search and rescue vessel for the fisheries department and a new ship for the Alaska Cruise Lines.

STRENGTHENING OPERATIONS

Mr. Hudson and Mr. Hudson both credit the federal government's 40-per-cent-of-cost shipbuilding subsidy program announced in 1961 for stimulating the boom. But on March 31 it drops to 35 per cent and they say this may be enough to discourage further coastal or deep-sea construction because of low world charter rates and high B.C. wage rates.

Mr. Hudson believes the future of the shipyards may lie in automation, so they can compete with cheap labor such as in Japan.

In the last five years VMD has spent more than $1,000,000 in enlarging facilities, improving handling methods and welding equipment and installing larger cranes. Already a new pattern in shipbuilding is taking place.

Varied Agenda For Royal Tour

CANBERRA (Reuters) — A night at a construction camp on the mountain site of a hydro-electric project; a day in the central desert of Australia; a cruise down the almost endless coastline of the great northwest. . . .

These are some of the highlights of the visit to Australia Feb. 18 to March 27 by Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

Features like these have given a new twist to this royal tour. If such a tour can ever be informal and unofficial, this one will be.

Pomp and pageantry has its part in the program. But that part will be short.

During this visit, the Queen will visit many strange and stark places up and down Australia.

Instead of countless official receptions and endless handshaking, the Queen will have a chance to see Australia at work.

That means visits ranging from huge, noisy, development projects to the silence of the cattle country and the color and freshness of the pearling industry in the sparkling waters of the Indian Ocean.

Care has been taken to give the royal couple adequate rest periods. Throughout the visit, the royal yacht Britannia, following them around Australia, will afford them the privacy of a home at the end of long, arduous days.

SELDOM ASHORE

During their 38-day visit, the Queen and the Duke will spend only nine nights ashore. Three of these will be spent at cottages in the Snowy Mountains area.

While visiting the Snowy Mountains, the royal couple will watch tunnelling operations, lunch in Australian picnic style high up in the mountains and visit a new power station built nearly a mile underground.

This pattern for her tour was the Queen's own idea. From the first, she stipulated that lavish functions and exhausting official engagements should be cut to a minimum.

As touching brotherly love you need not that I write unto you; for ye yourselves are taught of God to love one another.—1. Thessalonians 4:9

The achievement of genuine good will among men is an accomplishment worthy of God, to be encouraged by all men.

OTTAWA REPORT

Paper Scrap But Costly

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

The most highly-treasured possession of a scrap collector in Ottawa is a five-inch by three-inch piece of card bearing the caption "The Press Gallery Dinner."

This admission ticket costs $10. Around $90 of them are printed. It admits the happy—and proud—bearer to the select, off-the-record annual dinner at which members of the Press Gallery on Parliament Hill are hosts to their raw material.

The proceedings begin with a reception in the Railway Committee Room in the Parliament Building. This is always flamboyantly decorated with cut-outs, cartooning prominent political figures and depicting topical political events. Though one year we did have a live mouse grazing bewildered among the highlights.

There follows a dinner in the Parliamentary Restaurant, generally a substantial five-course meal which might equally be described as a four-bottle meal (wine, scotch, rye and rum).

Up to that point, all is gaiety and bonhomie. Nothing so far has been roasted except the beef.

But then comes the "entertainment." This consists of songs, sketches and dialogue, of original composition even though old favorite tunes are often borrowed for the localized lyrics. The theme is topical, political and highly specialized to the audience and performers, the mood is still of bonhomie, but the politicians selected for roasting end up "well done."

Speeches from the head table guests usually follow. Then the gathering disperses, back to the Railway Committee Room which is well stocked with refreshment, or to the parliamentary offices of hospitable MPs.

OFF THE RECORD

There is a time-honored tradition that this annual party is off the record. The guests include the Governor General, the Prime Minister, the leaders of other parties, cabinet ministers and ambassadors. They can all be confident that nothing that they say or do will be reported in the press; the hosts likewise know that nothing that they say or do—excepting only possibly any infraction of the Criminal Code of Canada—will thereafter be published.

A great deal of skill and knowledge goes into the creation of the entertainment; much time and effort goes into rehearsing it, and considerable talent is needed to plan the whole party so that it goes off smoothly.

So outstandingly witty and popular was this year's show that most of the guests, and the well-entertained hosts, agreed that this was the best performance and the smoothest party staged by the Press Gallery at least since the war. The printed song sheet, carrying all those original lyrics, will long remain a treasured souvenir. While it would be breaking the tradition surrounding the occasion to do more, it would interest readers to learn of the unheralded brilliance exhibited in this unfamiliar field by those who are widely known elsewhere, such as radio and TV commentators. Geoff Scott, journalist Walter Gray, TV newsmen Norman DePoe, writer Jean Paul Chartreux, and many others.

ALL-OTTAWA FAVORITE

It is a yearly source of wonderment to see how many politicians and civil servants and out-of-town visitors and newsmen and just plain Canadian personalities manage to squeeze into a party which only holds 400 in total. One small bomb exploded in the middle of that gathering would wipe out the cabinet, the newspaper and broadcasting fraternity of the federal political field, the top brass of the services, the cream of the civil service, and the management of railroads, airlines, and other crown corporations and private businesses. The only person whom one never sees at the Press Gallery Dinner is Eve, for of course it is a stag show. Especially to those who do not labor daily around Parliament Hill, an invitation remains a sought-after status symbol, always in very short supply.

That is why that scrap of pastboard is so highly treasured here, and of course literally worth much more than its weight in gold.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Some Eyes Suit Contacts

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 15-year-old girl who wears glasses. I've been wanting contact lenses but my parents are against them in the case that they might irritate my eyes after a few years.

Do you think contacts are safe?—I.M.

Contact lenses, properly fitted, will not harm your eyes. They may, or may not, irritate them, but in that case, the irritation will make you stop wearing them.

They do bother some people, but not others. There are in-between cases, in which people can wear contacts for X number of hours a day, but not all the time.

If you (or rather, your parents) can afford the added cost of contacts, and will not be unduly effected in case you find you can't continue to use them, I suggest that you try them.

Dear Dr. Molner: Would a mild case of overactive thyroid cause sterility or prevent conception? Could endometriosis make one unable to conceive?—Mrs. J. O.

To the first, probably not; to the second, yes.

Dear Dr. Molner: Several weeks ago I read your article on ears. Mine had been ringing for more than two years. I went to a specialist, and he sprayed some sort of medication in my ear on three occasions and that did the trick. I wonder, could you tell me the name of the spray that he used?—C.A.

I wouldn't if I could—and I can't. There is no single medication used for this purpose. It depends on the case. Using the right medicine on the wrong case can do as much harm as no treatment at all. Medical care just isn't that simple. If it were, we wouldn't need many doctors. In everyday practice, diagnosis is the most important part of medical care.

Dr. Dr. Molner: The doctor took a urine test of my young year-old son and discovered that he had phenylketonuria. Will the boy have to stay on a special diet all his life, or just for a few years? Will he always be slower than other children because of the brain damage so far?—M.S.

The special diet may be necessary indefinitely. The condition is a defect in the enzyme system which we have not as yet found a way to correct. The next best measure, therefore, is to change the diet to compensate. It is hard to predict improvement in mental ability; there probably will be some but the boy may always be slower than others.

It is now known that if treatment can be started immediately, brain damage can be prevented, and for that reason efforts now are made to discover the condition at birth.

Note to Mrs. A: Yes, excessive eating of sweets may have some connection with the occurrence of boils, although the connection is probably rather indirect. But there are other reasons why too much sweet stuff isn't a good idea—color, weight, teeth, etc.

Mothers Pick Mother of the Year for '63 Will You Be in Mothers' Hall of Fame

Judges for the FTD Canadian Mother of the Year nominations will be Mrs. George Nowlan, wife of Finance Minister George Nowlan; Mrs. Louis J. Robichaud, wife of the Premier of New Brunswick; Mrs. Camille Mather, M.L.A. for the province of British Columbia; Mayor Mamie Cunningham of Cobalt, Ontario; and Mr. Gerald McKenna, Regional Director of Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, which sponsors the annual search for Canada's most worthy mother.

As is the custom, all of the judges (with the exception of Mr. McKenna) are mothers. Mrs. George Nowlan is the mother of four sons and one daughter. Mayor Cunningham has five children and 19 grandchildren. Mrs. Robichaud has three children and Mrs. Mather two.

No one will know until the middle of April, who will be chosen FTD Canadian Mother of 1963. The judges will make their choice from among the nominations now coming in from church groups, Girl Guide associations, Canadian political parties and charitable organizations, and ordinary individuals from across the nation.

One thing is certain... the FTD Mother of the Year, whoever she is, will be the most excited woman in Canada.

The women who have been Canada's Mother of the Year in the past have singled out different parts of their experience as being most thrilling.

The FTD Mother of 1962, Mrs. C. E. Desmeules of Chicoutimi, North felt that the most thrilling thing about being named Mother of the Year was being received by Governor-General and Madame George Vanier at Government House. Closely followed by this thrill, however, was the excitement of being guest of honor at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto where Madame Desmeules helped judge some of the women's exhibits.

For Mrs. Dorothy Gentleman of Lethbridge, Alberta, who was the Mother of the Year for 1961, the high point of her whirlwind tour of Ottawa was being received by Mayor, Charlotte Whittom at City Hall where Her Worship presented Mrs. Gentleman with a pair of earrings bearing the civic crest.

Mrs. H. B. DeGroot of Regina, Saskatchewan, who was named Mother of the Year for her work in establishing the Harrow DeGroot School for retarded children, felt that the high point of her Ottawa visit as mother of the year came when she had tea with Mrs. John Diefenbaker at the Prime Minister's residence and chatted with Mrs. Diefenbaker about the work of the Canadian Association for Retarded Children.

Mrs. Lilian Spiess of Toronto, Ontario, who was FTD Mother of the Year for 1959, felt that the most thrilling moment of her Ottawa visit was the FTD luncheon, attended by civic and national dignitaries, and getting the autograph of an authentic red-coated Mountie on Parliament Hill.

Again this year, the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association Canadian Mother of the Year will be sought to Ottawa for an all-expense tour of the nation's capital. She will visit the Parliament Buildings, Rideau Hall, the National Gallery, and her luncheon at La Touraine will be attended by national dignitaries.

The FTD Canadian Mother of the Year will receive a special Mother's Day Award Bouquet and will be able to write a duplicate of her award bouquet to anyone, anywhere in the world.

Bouquets in the past have been wired to Denmark, the United Kingdom and Holland, as well as to points in Canada and the United States.

The FTD Mother of 1963 will also receive a Bouquet of the Month throughout the coming 12 months.

If you know a mother who is doing a good job for her family, her home and her community, nominate her for the title FTD Canadian Mother of 1963. Simply send her name and qualifications to FTD, Box 4044, Ottawa, Ontario. All nominations should be forwarded to arrive not later than April 1, 1963.

IF YOU KNOW A MOTHER who is worthy of being named Canadian Mother of 1963, send in her name and qualifications today to Box 4044, Ottawa, Ontario. Mothers who have won the expense-paid trip to Ottawa in the past to receive their award plaque and Mother's Day Award Bouquet include: Mrs. H. B. DeGroot of Regina, the 1960 winner; Mrs. Dorothy Gentleman of Lethbridge, Alberta, Canadian Mother of 1961; and Mrs. C. E. Desmeules of Chicoutimi, Quebec, Canadian Mother of 1962, who was received last year at Government House by Their Excellencies Governor-General and Mrs. George Vanier.

Judges for this year's Mother of the Year will be: Mrs. George Nowlan, wife of Finance Minister George Nowlan; Mrs. Louis J. Robichaud, wife of the Premier of New Brunswick; Mrs. Camille Mather, M.L.A., for the province of British Columbia; Mayor Mamie Cunningham of Cobalt, Ontario; and Mr. Gerald McKenna, Regional Director of Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association, which sponsors the annual search for Canada's most worthy mother. Kelowna Districts 1 and 2 Girl Guides and Brownies have received a certificate of appreciation from the Committee for UNICEF, thanking them on behalf of the United Nations Children's Fund and the millions of children it assists for their contribution of $501.23. The money was raised by the girls of the Guides and Brownies on Halloween and they would like to thank everyone who assisted them with their kind donations.

A bon voyage dinner party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Capoun on Sunday evening and hosted by her bridge club, honored Mrs. D. H. Clarke, who left yesterday for England where she plans to spend the next few weeks visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Lagrey.

Mrs. H. B. Brown was hostess at a luncheon held at her Lake Shore home in honor of Mrs. D. H. Clark on Wednesday.

Mrs. L. Sargenta returned last weekend from the South where she has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter Mr. and Mrs. C. Kendall in Chatsworth, California.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Mochter and children, Vivian and Greg, have moved to 1140 Pine Crest Lane, having sold their orchard on High Road to Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gray, who, with their three children, have moved to Glenmore from Beaverhill.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Adam, Kelowna, were visitors to the Coast over the past weekend.

Frank McFadden, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. McFadden, hosted a novel birthday party for a number of his friends recently. Mr. McFadden drove the group of boys to the Ellison district, where they went tobogganing near the Postill Lake Road. A roaring bonfire warmed the boys between rides, after which they returned to the McFadden home.

Annual Meeting Of District 1 Girl Guide Association Report

Fifty-nine members, leaders and guests attended the annual meeting of District No. 1 Girl Guide Association in the Anglican Parish Hall on Saturday, Feb. 2.

Colors were presented by Guides from 3rd Kelowna Company. After grace was sung, an excellent luncheon was served by Guides from 1st Company. The menu was arranged by 2nd Company and 3rd Company was in charge of ticket sales and clean up.

The toast to the Queen was proposed by Mrs. J. S. Bennett and toast to the Chief Guide by Miss M. Aikens. Mrs. J. S. Bennett, District No. 1 commissioner, presided at the business meeting which followed. In the report the commissioner advised that her term of office was up and as yet no successor had been found. She made a plea for names of persons suitable for this position. Miss Aikens then gave a vote of thanks to Mrs. Bennett on behalf of the district for her untiring efforts and enthusiasm during her three year term of office.

Warrants were presented by Mrs. Bennett to Mrs. R. McArthur, Lieutenant 2nd Kelowna Company, Mrs. C. Settle, Lieutenant 3rd Kelowna Company, and Mrs. J. Miller, tawny owl, 5th Brownie Pack.

Mrs. A. F. G. Drake then presented the certificate of merit to Mrs. J. D. Montleth for her outstanding work in the Guide movement during the past 11 years.

Mrs. A. F. G. Drake, division commissioner, drew attention to the work of division, explaining that division is the link between provincial and district associations. She stressed the importance of the annual Guide cookie sales, because it is through the sale of cookies the division is financed. She announced the annual meeting of division would be held in Vernon on March 2, and requested as many members as possible should try to attend. Tribute was paid by Mrs. Drake to all Guide captains, lieutenants, brown owls and tawny owls for their efforts.

ANN LANDERS

Accentuate The Positive

Dear Ann Landers: Perhaps the mother with the TV headache might like some specific suggestions. This is what worked for me:

Sit down with your kids and admit you're been leaving too much decision-making up to them. Announce there are going to be new rules and regulations and that they must stick to them regardless of the howls.

The next step is a tough one because it requires some giving on Mother's part. Keep the TV off for several days, even if it means missing some of your favorite programs — or Dad's. (You'll need his help with this.)

Then sit down and read with your children. Play chess, take them bird-watching, put on some good records. Help them discover the world beyond the idiot-box.

Allow them to resume their TV viewing with a fresh outlook — school work and chores completed — and you decide what's worth watching.

Don't expect success without plenty of sweating. Mother, and don't try it at all unless you have guts. — JUDY W.

Dear Judy: I heartily endorse your plan for accentuating the positive. As you so wisely pointed out, it requires work, but the results are worth it.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been reading your column since 1953 and think you hit the nail right on the noggin most of the time. But when you get hippped on a subject, Dearly, you proceed to go right off the deep end.

One of your pet causes seems to be psychiatry.

I don't say psychiatry is worthless, but I think it's vastly over-rated and in most cases not worth the time, money and agony.

Since you are such a strong proponent of this hocus focus semi-science, will you answer just one question, please? Why are psychiatrists' children the nuttiest ones in the crowd?

— THE DEVIL'S ADVOCATE

Dear D.A.: The question assumes that I accept the premise. I do not.

Everyone's childhood expects the dentist's children to have perfect teeth, the teacher's children ought to be brilliant, and, of course, the psychiatrist's chil-

Next Kelowna Overture Concert To Be Spanish Dance Company

A chance meeting in a dance studio in Barcelona brought together the dramatic Spanish beauty Susana Audeoud and Jose Udaeta, son of an aristocratic Basque family, and their decision to work together and create their own programs, opened the door to complete self-realization as both artist and dancer. They do not represent themselves as Andalusian gypsies, for both are highly cultivated, cosmopolitan, with the finest training in both the classical ballet, as well as in the ancient dance techniques of Spain.

Susana studied ballet as a child and was eventually sent to Paris to continue her studies with such famous teachers as Mme. Preobajenska and Volinine. Seeking a broader scope, she studied art and art history at the University of Florence, Italy, and finally went on to Madrid for intensive study in the Spanish dance with Spain's greatest teachers, such as Estampalon, La Quena and Pericot.

Barcelona-born Jose is the youngest of 12 children of a Basque family of noble descent. Against the wishes of his aristocratic family, who wanted him to study medicine, Jose secretly studied ballet at the Opera in Barcelona. He shocked his proud family by taking part in a student recital, which earned him rave notices from the Press. It took four more years before Jose became a full-fledged professional and was engaged as soloist with the Theatre de l'Opera at Barcelona, thus causing a clean break with his family and his aristocratic friends. He subsequently moved to Madrid, where he earned his fees for dancing lessons by acting bit parts at the Theatre Maria Guerrero under the great director Luis Escobar. The development of his acting talent has been extremely useful to him as a dancer. After he debuted he won an appointment as choreographer and leading dancer of the Madrid Opera, where he remained for three years.

Their momentous decision to work together as a team has carried Susana and Jose far and wide, first to Geneva, where the great impresario Ernst Krauss saw their extraordinary and original program, and subsequently all over the European continent and on to the Big Congo, Bali and Malaya, and two seasons ago to the United States and Canada. In 1960 they were the hit at the Edinburgh Festival.

Their partnership is, however, strictly artistic and professional. Each is happily married—Jose to the attractive and gifted Martha, who designs the brilliant and intricate costumes for the dance troupe, Susana to the distinguished concert pianist, Armin Janssen, who has often accompanied them on tours and does so again on the present tour.

Other members of this distinguished little dance group are the renowned flamenco guitarist Pedro Sevilla, the exciting flamenco singer, Naranjito De Triana, and pianist Armin Janssen. Using simple but highly expressive sets and aided by magic lighting effects, each program presents a group of artfully devised dramatic — dance vignettes, which encompass all aspects of Spanish culture, from ancient flamenco and Spanish folkdance, to the great classics of Spanish history and legend.

Susana y Jose are unanimously regarded by the Press as the world's best Spanish dance team. Their dances are all based upon a thorough study of the folklore in the various Spanish provinces, and are in fact choreographed by both artists as translations of still-living folkloristic art into artistic creations. Both artists each year spend some months travelling through the provinces of Spain, not only to learn ancient vigorous folkdances, but to observe and understand the life and customs of the people who dance them.

Because of their true artistic skill, insight, and furious devotion, they are capable of creating artful, charming and exhilarating programs that completely electrify and bewitch audiences wherever they appear, not to mention the "stamping of feet" and the great roar of "Olé!" that each performance elicits. Jose is undoubtedly the best executor of Zapateado in the world and in every way their program is a sheer tour de force, which leaves the audience literally at their feet at the end of the evening.

No doubt North American audiences will again give the ancient cry of approval to this brilliant company with a wholehearted "Olé!" before Susana y Jose have departed.

INVEST MORE

SUSAN Y JOSE

The pocket-size dance company known as Susana Y Jose who have won unanimous acclaim of the leading dance critics of Europe and in many parts of the world, including the Congo and Indonesia are on their second tour of the North American continent and will appear in the Kelowna Community Theatre on Thursday, Feb. 28, at 8 p.m. under the auspices of the Kelowna Overture Concerts. This will be a concert that you cannot afford to miss.

Medical Advice Is Needed For Cholesterol Control

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

A recent news release from the American Medical Association clarifies the blood cholesterol question.

To quote: "Doctors who believe they can cut down their blood cholesterol without medical supervision are in for a rude awakening. It can't be done. It could be dangerous to try. An individual cannot know how much cholesterol his blood contains until this is determined by laboratory tests."

MUST BE MEASURED

"By the same token, he cannot know whether any diet changes have raised or lowered his blood cholesterol unless it is scientifically measured. . . . A person's entire food intake must be precisely regulated to lower blood cholesterol. . . . Substitution of a few food items without overall content of the diet accomplishes little if anything. . . ."

"It is not known what type of fat if any may be beneficial in preventing heart disease. . . . A varied diet is the best way of maintaining a high level of health."

Cool chicken in broth remains after chicken is boiled.

Remove meat from bones and chop it fine. Mix with half a half (or cream) and seasoning salt.

Rob 2 qt. low casserole with butter or rendered chicken fat. Layer chicken and Rice Pilaf alternately in casserole, making 5 layers; finish with chicken. Dust with crumbs and cheese. Place under broiler or in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) until golden brown.

Serve smiling.

NUT CRUMBLE

1/2 c. flour
3 tbs. chopped nuts, any kind
3 tbs. butter or margarine, room-soft
1/2 c. sugar
1/4 tsp. ground ginger
Combine ingredients. Work together with back of spoon until crumbly.

Use as directed above.

ROYAL FAMILY WATCHES OVER KIDDIES' ICE MASQUERADE

Thousands of kiddies, many barely able to stand on skates, flocked to the arena this week for the annual children's masquerade party, part of winter carnival celebrations. Vernon's royal family, left, Queen Silver Star III, Joanne Thorsen, and her princesses Elaine, Gloria and Jean Block, attended and awarded prizes for the best costumes.

A panel of judges said it was the toughest job they had during the 10-day carnival. Prizes Rocky, Colleen and Bobby Kirtus, right, drew applause from the hundreds of spectators lining the rink.

expert instructors are not followed. Pre-schoolers were confined during first part of the evening while judging was progressing, but they soon got into the act and played follow the leaders like troupers. Costumes were judged according to originality. Commercial or professional costumes were not allowed and all children made their own from materials around the house. Saturday, the very small moppets, known as Tebo's Tiddlers will take to the ice for their own masquerade. Most of the children have just learned to walk, and parents diligently hold them up on skates. (Courier Photos)

Liberals "Also to Blame" For Governmental Crisis

VERNON (Staff) — Social Credit candidate for Okanagan-Revelstoke in the forthcoming federal election said the Liberals are equally to blame with the Conservatives in causing the crisis which collapsed the government and forced an April 8 election.

Peor Paynter said the unrest developed before the Conservatives took power (while Liberals were in office), but instead of solving the problems left them, he said, Conservatives only multiplied the "trifles".

Mr. Paynter, a Simsbury motel owner, reiterated the Social Credit party had the best chance of forming a government. He said he was confident the Socialists would take Quebec, capturing as many as 50 ridings and the party would make great strides in Western Canada.

SOLE CANDIDATE

Mr. Paynter is the only candidate in the Okanagan-Revelstoke riding so far. New Democratic Party expect to name their candidate Feb. 23, Liberals after a Feb. 13 meeting, but Conservatives have not stated when a general meeting of members will be held.

Stuart Fleming, Conservative, who sat in Ottawa for this riding since 1957, stated he will not seek re-election. Conservatives have not indicated who will seek the nomination for the party.

NDP's Jim Foord, president of the Okanagan-Revelstoke party organization said he will stand for nomination for candidate.

He indicated at least two other party members will seek the nomination, but declined to name them.

Erhart Regier, national NDP organizer, and Tommy Douglas, NDP leader, are expected to attend a rally in Vernon Feb. 23.

Vernon High Had Lion's Share Of Celebrities During Month

By JOAN PENNEY
Vernon Senior High

Vernon high is having more than its fair share of celebrities this month.

Besides Queen Silver Star III in our midst, we now also have the first prize winner of an essay competition sponsored by the North Okanagan Forest Products Week committee and the Grollier Society.

Michael Kidston, a grade 12 student, submitted the winning entry. Another VHS student, Wayne Nelson won second prize, while Ellen Inglis of Lumby received third.

At the end of last month two students from VHS attended a Future Teachers' Club conference at Vancouver, the students were Judy Wells and Ann Gorman both of grade 12. Leaving Thursday morning the girls arrived on the UBC campus where the conference was held. A total of 160 delegates were there each B.C. school with a Future Teachers' Club being represented by two students. The conference lasted two days, and the students were billeted out though some stayed with friends.

CAMPUS TOUR
Their agenda included a tour of the UBC campus and two main discussion groups. The topics were—Future Teachers' Clubs effective preparation for teaching? And—are the new teaching methods effective? Speakers at these discussion groups were Dean Scarfe, Joan Malton, Dr. Smith, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Stinton, and Mr. Inkster.

It was impressed on the students that teaching isn't any easy profession as there are many extra jobs not noticed at first.

Saturday night found the representatives at a banquet and dance to close a successful conference.

Not to be forgotten was Vernon high's entry in the winter carnival parade. The students decorated an archaic truck in an ingenious manner and loaded it with representatives from various sports departments of VHS, such as football, basketball, cheer squad, etc. Although it won no prizes it showed the carnival spirit.

The annual forest industries essay contest is here again, offering 24 prizes worth $1,400. The contest is distributed over four zones in B.C. among junior and senior, high students.

This year's topic is—trees and people—the importance of our forests to every citizen. Entry forms and pertinent material may be obtained through Mr. Marrs or by writing to the Canadian Forestry Association, 1201 Melville, Vancouver 5. Closing date is April 1.

In basketball the Panthers played against Armstrong this week winning 41-14.

Slalom Events Will Be Held

VERNON (Staff) — Winter carnival officials say the slalom events scheduled for Silver Star Mountain will be held Saturday and Sunday despite unusually mild weather which has melted some of the snow.

Officials explain that the warmer weather has worked well for slalom racing as the soft snow when warmed has a tendency to pack tight which is the prime requisite for fast racing.

Fears had been expressed here Thursday that the slaloms which are the western Canadian alpine ski events would not be held. Officials say the temperature would have to rise to well above 40 daily and stay there overnight before they would be cancelled.

SMOKING FALLS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarette smoking in the United States declined last year for the first time since 1951, the commerce department reported today, but only by an average of two cigarettes a person. Average consumption last year was computed at 199.2 packs of 20 a person, compared with 199.3 packs in 1961.

EYES HAVE IT
Mr. Magill explained that preparation for a CNIB submission to the royal commission on health services disclosed that many Canadians are indifferent about the care of the eyes. "People will put up with mistiness."

Kelowna Edge Vernon 4-3 In Midget Hockey Finals

The Kelowna midget hockey team flipped the puck over the Vernon goalies into the net. The third period was a hard and close checkered 20 minutes of play as both teams scored one goal. Kelowna scored 1:17 of the third on a goal by Morrison and assisted by Doug Bailey and Joet Petrella. Vernon's final goal came late in the third period as Graham Elliot poked the top corner of the Kelowna cage on a shot close in.

Kelowna now goes into the final game of the two-game total affair in Vernon on Saturday with a one-goal edge over the Vernon crew.

Only four penalties were handed out during the game with Kelowna picking up all four.

Vernon outshot Kelowna 39-36 in the three periods of play.

Trail Smokies Upset 6-4 By Kitchener-Waterloo

KITCHENER (CP) — Trail Smokies must have one of two impressions today: 1. Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers were playing over their heads Thursday night. 2. Kitchener-Waterloo Tigers were not playing too well Wednesday night at Windsor.

The Smokies, Canada's representatives in the world hockey tournament next month at Stockholm, were clipped 6-4 by the Tigers in an exhibition game expected to be a runaway for Trail.

The Tigers, mind you, were strengthened by a few players from other teams in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A Series—but it was still hard for the Smoke Eaters to swallow.

The last-place Kitchener-Waterloo team was humiliated 14-0 Wednesday night in a league game against Windsor Bulldogs.

Caughlin Back In Form By Beating Lachance 6-5

TRAIL (CP)—Gerry Caughlin is back in the brilliant form that won him the Dominion II curling championship two years ago.

But the right shots were a long time coming this week for the handsome 19-year-old from Osoyoos. He lost a half dozen games in the B.C. Curling Association Bontipal earlier in the week, and entered the B.C. Interior Championship Thursday night as a long shot.

He split 10 single points in 10 ends with Alfred Lachance of Prince George and risked an extraordinary double takeout to blank the 11th. He sent his last rock home through a narrow port for another takeout and 6-5 victory.

It gave him a place in the quarter-finals of B draw in the double-draw playoff, along with seven other rinks. Earlier Thursday, the quarter-final had been completed in the A draw.

Only three of the 19 rinks survived on both sides.

Toronto School Girl Wins Junior Figure Skating Title

EDMONTON (CP)—Jeannie Marie Sanders, 16, a Toronto high school student, is Canada's junior women's figure skating champion following a strong performance in a gruelling 16-hour test Thursday night.

She won the championship over 14 competitors in her first try for the title.

It was the first title decided at the 52nd Canadian figure skating championships, which continue until Saturday night.

Miss Sanders collected 447.1 points for compulsory figures, which comprise 60 per cent of the points towards the championship, and finished with an aggregate of 702.46 after completion of the free skating.

"I'm happy," the grade 11 student said upon learning of her victory. "I think I'm the first skater to win the junior title in a first attempt." It could not be confirmed immediately if this was the case.

Gloria Anne Tatton, 18, a farm girl representing the Toronto Granite Club, placed second.

FINISHES THIRD
Third place went to Marjorie Hare, 18, of Oakville, Ont., with 732.14 points.

Rounding out the top 10 were Lindsay E. Cowan, Vancouver, 730.97; Carol Kiser, Stratford, Ont., 689.89; Shirley Robson, Edmonton, 695.91; Bonnie-Jean Jackson, Vancouver, 690.51; Selja Hinkkur, Timmins, Ont., 690.21; Patricia Hordan, Winnipeg, 684.94 and Carole Stoddart, Timmins, 681.45.

A factor in compiling the official standings called the officials allowed Miss Kiser to place fifth despite receiving fewer points than Miss Holman, Miss Jackson and Miss Hinkkur.

Officials refer to the placing each judge gives a contestant in an event. Miss Kiser had one fifth, one sixth, one seventh and two 13th placings, thus giving her a lower ordinal total than the other two skaters.

Flyers Down Blades 5-4 McCartan Out With Injury

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Los Angeles Blades, who lost the services of goalie Jack McCartan in their 7-1 Western Hockey League shelling of Edmonton Flyers Wednesday, fumbled their way to a 5-4 loss to the same team Thursday night.

Little if any blame for the loss is due Russ Gillow, a recruit from Lacombe Rockets of the intermediate Central Alberta League who filled in for McCartan.

The third double winner was unheralded—Pete Crooks of Kimberley, the winner in games Thursday over zone winners Russ Bowles of Kamloops and Clare Robertson of Kitimat.

Reg Stone of Trail, the biggest name in B.C. curling, lost 7-6 on one side to Winstanley but kept alive on the other by stopping Ross 8-2 in seven ends.

Highly rated Buzz McGibney of Trail curled poorly in a morning loss to Joe McKinnon of Kamloops, but returned to defeat Lloyd Harper of Quesnel 11-9.

Winners of the two draws meet Saturday night to declare an interior champion to play Glen Harper of Duncan for the B.C. championship in a best-of-three series Sunday.

Harper won the coast championship in Pacific Coast Curling Association playoffs at Burnaby last month.

Rivals Threaten Investigations

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new row among rival American track and field organizations threatens to explode today into a full scale Senate investigation.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, chairman of the Senate anti-trust and monopoly subcommittee, told his staff to resume its preliminary investigation of the issues.

Kefauver had halted the inquiry after Gen. Douglas MacArthur arranged a truce Jan. 19 among those who supervise and police collegiate and other amateur track and field events. The truce has not proved to be fully effective.

In the dispute are the Amateur Athletic Union, National Collegiate Athletic Association, the college-backed United States Track and Field Federation, and some smaller groups.

Red Wings Hold Bruins to Draw

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
It hasn't taken the two players involved in the National Hockey League's biggest trade of the season long to get used to their new duties.

Dean Prentice, the long-time New York Rangers winger who went to Boston Bruins in exchange for centre Don McKenney earlier this week, scored a goal in his first appearance in his new uniform Thursday night as Boston and Detroit Red Wings battled to a 3-3 tie.

Wednesday night McKenney donned his Rangers uniform for the first time and scored what proved to be the winning goal and added an assist as New York trounced Montreal Canadiens 6-3.

Prentice's first goal as a Bruin—his 14th of the season—came at 19:18 of the first period and gave Boston a 2-0 lead.

Both goals came on power plays, something the Bruins have lacked. Defenceman Irv Spencer got the first while Detroit's rookie Doug Barkley was sitting out a minor. Parker MacDonald was in the penalty box when Prentice scored.

Bucyk Tops NHL Scorers

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Boston's Johnny Bucyk picked up one assist Thursday night as the Bruins and Detroit Red Wings battled to a 3-3 tie and he needed it to maintain his lead in the tight National Hockey League scoring race.

Gordie Howe, the Red Wings great winger, got two assists and vaulted over the side Frank Mahovlich of Toronto Maple Leafs into second place.

Bucyk now has 22 goals and 34 assists for 56 points, while Howe has 26 goals and 29 assists for 55 points.

Howe's goal total is only one short of Mahovlich's league-leading output.

Murray Oliver, Bucyk's linemate, also picked up one assist and moved into a tie for fourth place with Chicago's Stan Mikita with 53 points.

The other positions in the top seven scorers remained unchanged, with only the two clubs in action.

The leaders:

	G	A	Pts
Bucyk, Boston	22	34	56
Howe, Detroit	26	29	55
Mahovlich, Toronto	27	27	54
Mikita, Chicago	22	31	53
Oliver, Boston	20	33	53
Belliveau, Montreal	12	40	52
Bathgate, New York	24	27	51

ADD TO TALLY
John Muzuk, Bo Elik, Jack McIntyre and Ray Kinasevich scored the other Edmonton goals. Bruce Carmichael got two for the Blades. Gord Hawthorn and Lloyd Haddon added one each.

The teams, each in third spot in their respective divisions, battled through a scoreless first period. Flyers led 2-1 going into the third period. In a see-saw third Blades tied the score, fell behind 4-2 and then tied the game again before Corcoran scored.

McCartan, who pulled a leg ligament in Wednesday's game, is expected to be out for a week to 10 days. It's not known how long Gillow will handle the net-minding chores.

Riggin was playing his second game for Edmonton since being sent down by Detroit Red Wings of the National League.

Tonight Vancouver Canucks host San Francisco Seals.

Kassem's Crisis On Agenda Of Diplomats' Calculations

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Diplomats in restive Iraq have wondered for months how long strongman Abdel Karim Kassem could maintain the control he seized in a bloody revolt 4½ years ago.

On July 14, 1958, Kassem—then a 43-year-old brigadier commanding an army division—overthrew Iraq's monarchy and turned street mobs loose to kill King Faisal II and pro-Western Premier Nuri Said.

Since then, Kassem, with guns or words, has been fighting a Kurdish tribal revolt, President Nasser of the United Arab Republic, the Arab League, the Western-owned Iraq Petroleum Company, Kuwait, Iraqi Communists and Israel.

Fearful for his life, he drove through the streets of Baghdad in a bulletproof limousine. He served in his tightly guarded defence ministry. More and more he depended on police state measures at home and Moscow backing abroad.

He tried to woo the peasant with land reform—but his plan made little headway in two years' effort. Farm income dropped and Iraq was forced to buy wheat abroad.

BOUGHT RECALL

Kassem's claims against the oil-rich sultanate of Kuwait alienated other Arab states. He asked for the recall of U.S. Ambassador John Jernegan after Washington recognized Kuwait's independence.

But Kassem was confident he would remain in power. He liked to show visitors a glass case holding the uniform he was wearing when he survived an assassination attempt in 1959, suffering three bullet wounds and spending 50 days in hospital.

He was an apparently shy man, slightly built and wiry, with no talent as an orator.

He never married because, he said, he feared that domestic life might deter him from his purpose of revolution.

Despite the government propaganda machine and a controlled press, Iraq's 1,000,000 people showed a notable lack of enthusiasm for Kassem.

HAD MONEY TROUBLES

Economic problems added to his troubles in a concentrating on survival. Kassem allowed the economy to stagnate despite a huge income from oil. Inflation crept across the land between the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, traditionally the site of the biblical Garden of Eden. The cost of living soared.

The Soviet bloc gave Kassem about $250,000,000 in credit for his five-year industrial plan. He already owed Moscow about $600,000,000 for tanks, trucks, artillery and a jet air force.

He leaned heavily on the $250,000,000 he received annually in oil revenues to serve his domestic economy and help pay a $100,000,000 defence budget.

This was a prime reason why he tried to pressure the Iraq Petroleum Company into raising payments and why he tried to annex Kuwait.

REVERSED COURSE

When he took over the country, Kassem reversed Iraq's previously pro-Western course and looked toward Nasser in Cairo and toward Moscow. He took Iraq out of the Western-sponsored Baghdad Pact.

But the Iraqi Communists and supporters of Nasser grew increasingly restive as Kassem more and more pursued his own course. Finally he cracked down on the Communists and broke with Nasser, a break that split the Arab world.

In recent months, Kassem tried to avert the spotlight from internal unrest by accusing the United States of sponsoring spy rings in Iraq and ordered the arrest of an Armenian employee of the U.S. embassy on charges of aiding the Kurdish revolt. He also accused the British of spending £400,000 ($1,200,000) to foment the revolt.

Division Of Rec Room Provides Space For Varied Activities

How to divide a recreation room into sections for different activities is demonstrated by this double-sided storage wall, taken from the new idea book "6 Master-Designed Recreation Rooms."

In this instance the storage wall is used to block off an area for ping pong, but it could do the same for a sewing centre, workshop, children's play area or what have you.

To really enjoy life in your rec room, you need plenty of a complete home entertainment

Brighter Cage For Birds - If You Don't Like Hard Work

QUESTION: I have a very old brass bird cage that is badly tarnished. How can I brighten it?

ANSWER: The easiest way would be to take it to a metal-plating shop which is equipped to clean it in an acid solution. If necessary, it could be replated with brass. Or, you can use one of the brass cleaning and polishing preparations, widely available at supermarkets, housewares and hardware dealers, following label instructions carefully; but, with a bird cage, this is tedious work.

THOUSAND-LEGGERS

QUESTION: We seem to be invaded by thousand-leggers downstairs. How can we get rid of them?

ANSWER: Thousand-leggers (millipedes) breed in damp places, of which there are usually many in most basements. Clear the cellar of all damp rubbish in corners and along walls, especially around plumbing pipes. Dust these places frequently with pyrethrum powder; kill each individual thousand-legger as it appears.

ODORLESS ENAMEL?

QUESTION: In refinishing furniture, I find that the interiors of cabinets, drawers, closets—anything that must be closed up—retain the odor of the finish put on, especially enamel paint. Is there a type of enamel that is odorless?

ANSWER: Yes; there are odorless enamels—they are so indicated on the label. In refinishing interiors, doors and drawers should be left open and not closed until the finish coating is absolutely dry.

NYLON ON IRON

QUESTION: I used a too-hot iron to touch up a nylon blouse and the nylon stuck to the iron. How can this be removed from the bottom of the iron?

ANSWER: If this is an iron with chromium plate, heat the iron, then rub the bottom with a mild abrasive such as powdered whiting which usually removes melted nylon; then rinse with a clean, slightly moistened cloth to remove the powder, and wipe dry. If the sole plate is of aluminum, fine steel wool can be used, rubbing the iron lengthwise.

U.S. Anti-Guerrillas Experts Set For Castro-Born Uprisings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The army is planning to form a new group of anti-guerrilla experts and base it in the Panama Canal Zone—in position to help Latin American nations cope with any Cuban-fomented uprisings.

Informed sources disclosed this today amid concern in the United States over Soviet military strength in Cuba and the threat of Communist penetration of South and Central America.

Defence Secretary McNamara has said the Russians and Cubans do not have the ships to move any of the tanks or other significant military gear across the Caribbean to Latin America.

But U.S. authorities long have been concerned that Fidel Castro might succeed in transplanting his revolution by undercover means and stir up revolts aimed at overthrowing governments friendly to the United States.

The U.S. Army now maintains four special groups, each made up of more than 1,200 men trained in the techniques of combatting guerrillas.

For some time, a nucleus of special forces troopers has been detailed to the Canal Zone. The new group will be a full-scale and permanent outfit.

CALL EXPERTS IN

Although it never has been publicized, teams of U.S. anti-guerrilla experts are known to have worked in several Latin American countries—always at the request of those countries.

Among them were understood to be Guatemala and Colombia. Such operations are likely to expand with formation of the fifth unit in the Canal Zone.

The cold war mission of the special forces is to train native elements, but not to fight themselves. However, in South Viet Nam U.S. special forces troopers have found themselves in the midst of battle between government soldiers and Communist guerrillas, and some have been killed.

In a hot war, the special forces would be sent behind enemy lines in small teams to organize civilian resistance.

The number of army special forces experts has tripled during the last two years to a total of 5,600.

Price Of Sweetness Rises As Sugar Shortage Grows

MONTREAL (CP)—Pressures of supply and demand in world markets have driven the Canadian manufacturers' price for refined sugar up slightly more than 45 per cent since the Cuban crisis last October.

The price in Montreal of refined sugar was raised again Thursday to $10.60 a 100-pound bag. It was the eighth price increase since Jan. 1, when refined sugar was $9.10, plus freight charges, a 100-pound bag.

Manufacturers say the price charged for Canadian refined sugar is a direct reflection of the price of raw sugar on the world market in London. Some countries, such as the United States and the United Kingdom, buy under special price agreements, while Canada buys on the world market.

Manufacturers attribute the rise in world prices partly to a poor cane crop in Cuba and continuing unavailability of Cuba's political situation.

Another major source of raw sugar for Canada is the European beet crop, which is estimated at about 6,500,000 metric tons this season, compared with about 6,500,000 metric tons this season, compared with about 7,000,000 metric tons in the 1961-62 growing season.

WEATHER HIT CROP
The cold wave which swept Europe early this winter is considered a big factor in the smaller crop this season.

Another reason given for the increase in world prices is a shift in the world balance between production and consumption.

Until January, 1961, production of raw sugar was growing at a faster rate than world consumption. Aided by the downward pressure caused by some large sugar stocks, prices fell to all-time lows.

Last January, refined sugar in 100-pound bags sold at $6.30.

But since then, manufacturers say, production has levelled off, while consumption has continued to increase.

The result has been 45 fluctuations in the price of refined sugar in Canada. Between January and late October, the trend was erratically upward.

CRISIS BOOSTS PRICES

But with the onset of the Cuban crisis, the price spiral accelerated. A price change was announced Oct. 23, the day the crisis emerged, and of the 20 price changes since then, only two have been decreases—and they were in a brief period of confidence following the crisis.

Since Jan. 1, the upward spiral has hit a dizzying pace. By Jan. 16, the price was $10.10; by Jan. 20, $10.30, and by Monday it had increased to $10.50.

The present level is the highest since prices skyrocketed in the aftermath of the Suez crisis in April, 1957, and reached $10.80 a 100-pound bag. The all-time high is $11.75 a bag reached in 1923.

Another major source of raw sugar for Canada is the European beet crop, which is estimated at about 6,500,000 metric tons this season, compared with about 6,500,000 metric tons this season, compared with about 7,000,000 metric tons in the 1961-62 growing season.

Earl Home Urges Vigilance On French Ideas For Europe

BRUSSELS (AP) — The Earl of Home called tonight for vigilance against allowing the French conception of Europe to creep into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Addressing the annual British Chamber of Commerce banquet here, Lord Home, Britain's foreign secretary, said collapse of the Brussels negotiations on Britain's entry into the European Common Market was a setback for Western unity.

A French veto blocked Britain's entry.

Home said the real danger would come "if conception of a Europe introspective and exclusive was imported into the institutions which we have devised for our collective security." He then called for "particular vigilance" in NATO and the Western European Union.

Liberals Against Nuclear Arms

MONTREAL (CP) — Lionel Chevrier, former Liberal MP for Montreal Laurier, said today if his party wins power in Ottawa April 8 it will demand a non-nuclear role for Canada.

But he said Canada first must honor commitments to accept nuclear arms.

Mr. Chevrier said in an interview Canada will have to "stand by this commitment, and I think it will take some time before we can change anything, but I think we should work for a conventional role for Canada in Western defence."

In a separate interview, Mr. Chevrier said the Liberals expect difficulties in Quebec.

"There is no need to hide that fact. The fight in Quebec is not against the Conservatives, but against Social Credit."

In the last federal election, Liberals won 35 seats and Social Credit 28, with 14 going to the Progressive Conservatives.

"Quebec realizes that Social Credit has no chance in the rest of Canada. French-Canadians want a stable government today, as they did in 1958, and we realize that the only party capable of providing it is the Liberal party."

Snow Aids Couple To Flee E. Berlin

HELMSTEDT, West Germany (AP)—A 20-year-old East German border guard and his 19-year-old fiancée fled their homeland today and asked for asylum in West Germany, police announced.

Winter has made escapes in this region easier. In the last few weeks because mine fields have largely been rendered ineffective by more than three feet of snow.

QUEEN BESS'S WIGS
As Elizabeth I's red hair faded, she had scores of wigs made in orange, yellow and Auburn.

"Why then was Britain's partnership in Europe denied?" Home asked. "It was not because of pig meat or grain or New Zealand or tariffs. It was because two visions of Europe came into head-on collision."

"The one of a Europe so ordered that it would be a third force between Russia and the United States, a Europe protected, exclusive, narcissus-like, in its self glory."

"The other, a Europe of equal democratic, politically mature nations in complete partnership with America doing their duty by the whole world outside."

"Britain and Europe have stated with absolute clarity which vision of Europe is their choice."

Home said Britain will continue to work with Western Europe.
